

Boundary Violations

Think about each of these situations. Put a "X" on the line if there was a boundary violation and check if there was not. Talk with your grown-up about the decision you made and why. If a boundary violation occurred talk about how it should be addressed.

1. _____ Nathan's doctor asks him to undress, so he can look at Nathan's rash.
2. _____ You hit a home-run and you coach high-fives you.
3. _____ Emma's sister reads her diary.
4. _____ Your friend sends an embarrassing picture of you to the whole class.
5. _____ One of the boys in Jaime's grade keeps grabbing and pulling her hair.
6. _____ You are at school and your best friend comes up behind you and starts playing with your hair and says how much she loves how it looks.
7. _____ Frank's uncle continues to hug him after Frank tells him to stop.
8. _____ Jordan's dad's best friend is visiting her family. While her parents are cooking dinner, he starts to tickle her. Then he puts his hands in her shirt saying he wants to see just how ticklish she is.

Pick one of the situations where a boundary has been violated. Write what you would do or say to address and set a boundary.

What would you do if the person continued to violate the boundary?
